HONORING AMERICA'S FATHERS FOR THEIR DEDICATION TO THEIR WIVES AND CHILDREN

HON. JOSEPH R. PITTS

OF PENNSYLVANIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Monday, June 16, 2003

Mr. PITTS. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to pay tribute to America's fathers.

Mr. Speaker, we often hear negative comments about fathers and fatherhood. We hear a lot about "deadbeat dads" and absent fathers.

It's easy to forget that there are millions of American fathers who love their wives and their children. They get up every morning and go to work to support their families. They go to baseball games and ballet performances and school plays. They help their kids with their homework, chaperone proms and mow the lawn. They treat their wives with respect and model healthy relationships. They make sacrifices and invest in the next generation.

Current research shows that these daily acts of responsibility and faithfulness have a major impact on child well-being. We also know that marriage is the foundation of responsible fatherhood, and that fathers who are married to the mothers of their children are more likely to be involved in their children's lives.

According to the National Fatherhood Initiative:

The best predictor of father presence is marital status. Compared to children born within marriage, children born to cohabiting parents are three times as likely to experience father absence, and children born to unmarried, non-cohabiting parents are four times as likely to live in a father-absent home.

In a longitudinal study of 2,500 children of divorce, twenty years after the divorce less than one-third of boys and one-quarter of girls reported having close relationships with their fathers. In contrast, seventy percent of youths from the comparison group of intact families reported feeling close to their fathers.

But, we don't need statistics to tell us that committed, involved father's are essential to the preservation of the family.

Yesterday, thousands of families in my district celebrated Father's Day. Amid all the distractions of our society, many stopped, for just a minute, to honor "Dad."

It seems that politics and social change and the faddish nature of our culture have not been able to erase the enduring value of fatherhood and the imprint that father's have in my district and across this great nation.

TRIBUTE TO TIMOTHY TYMKOVICH

HON. SCOTT MCINNIS

OF COLORADO

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Monday, June 16, 2003

Mr. MCINNIS. Mr. Speaker, I am honored to stand before this body of Congress and this nation today to pay tribute to Timothy Tymkovich, who will soon become the next federal appellate judge for the Tenth Judicial Circuit. A Colorado native, Timothy has spent his career practicing law and serving the people of Colorado. I am proud to stand today and congratulate Timothy on his appointment.

Timothy began his distinguished law career at the University of Colorado School of Law, where he became the managing editor of the University's Law Review. Upon graduation in 1982, Timothy worked for Chief Justice William H. Erickson of the Colorado Supreme Court. He was appointed as Colorado's Solicitor General in 1991, working with both Republicans and Democrats effectively. He left that post in 1996, returning to practice law in the private sector. In addition to his time in the courtroom, Timothy has served on the Governor's Columbine Review Commission and currently chairs the Colorado Board of Ethics.

Mr. Speaker, Timothy Tymkovich is an outstanding member of the Colorado community who certainly deserves the praise of this body of Congress and this nation. The commitment he has given to Colorado and to the practice of law clearly shows his dedication to justice. Timothy will be a fantastic judge in the Tenth Circuit and it is my pleasure to congratulate him here today.

TRIBUTE TO SARAH SHANK

HON. SCOTT MCINNIS

OF COLORADO

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Monday, June 16, 2003

Mr. MCINNIS. Mr. Speaker, I rise before this body of Congress today to pay tribute to a courageous and benevolent young woman from my district. Sarah Shank of Durango, Colorado was diagnosed with a rare form of cancer three years ago at the age of eleven. When the disease went into remission the following year, Sarah decided she wanted to dedicate her time and efforts to help other affected children and their families combat cancer.

With the help of her family, Sarah founded "Country Kids With Cancer," an organization that provides emotional support to kids battling cancer and financial help to their families. People who live in rural areas, such as Sarah's family, often have to travel long distances to get treatment. "Country Kids With Cancer" works with Children's Hospital in Denver to identify and help such families with travel related expenses, which can be very expensive and are rarely covered by insurance.

Even though Sarah still deals with health-related problems stemming from cancer, she works hard to raise funds by speaking to neighbors at the local mall, hosting chili cook-offs, and organizing a charity golf tournament. Her efforts have directly helped nine families so far, and she is working to help more.

Mr. Speaker, I am truly honored to recognize Sarah Shank here today. That she would work so hard on behalf of others—after all she has been through—speaks volumes about her character. Sarah embodies the spirit of sharing and service that helped build this great nation, and I commend her for her leadership, thank her for her community service, and wish her all the best in her future endeavors.

TRIBUTE TO MIKE MCGUIRE

HON. SCOTT MCINNIS

OF COLORADO

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Monday, June 16, 2003

Mr. MCINNIS. Mr. Speaker, I am honored to stand before this body of Congress and this nation to pay tribute to Mike McGuire, a Colorado State Patrolman who will be retiring after eight years of distinguished service. Mike served in Durango, Colorado as a Community Resource Officer, where he worked with area schools to promote automobile safety.

Mike joined the State Patrol in 1995, and was quickly promoted to Community Resource Officer. It was there that Mike worked with organizations such as the Colorado Department of Transportation and Mothers Against Drunk Driving, teaching the virtues of seat belt use and driver safety. He works as an instructor in the "Alive at 25" program, which gives ticketed drivers the option of a lesser fine if they attend a safety class. Mike was also instrumental in the formation of the Victim Impact Panel for Drunk Drivers, a panel that consists of family and friends of people who have been killed by a drunk driver.

Mr. Speaker, Mike McGuire is the type of person whose dedication and commitment to improving safety has made a difference in the lives of many young Coloradans. The Durango community has greatly benefited from Mike's hard work and perseverance, and I thank him for his efforts. Good luck, Mike, in all of your future endeavors.

INTRODUCTION OF THE IRAQI FREEDOM FROM DEBT ACT

HON. CAROLYN B. MALONEY

OF NEW YORK

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Monday, June 16, 2003

Mrs. MALONEY. Mr. Speaker, today with my colleague Representative JIM LEACH, I am introducing the Iraqi Freedom from Debt Act. This legislation consists of 'findings' and two major initiatives. It requires the U.S. to negotiate in the IMF, World Bank and other appropriate multilateral development institutions for relief of the debts owed by Iraq to these institutions. Secondly, it includes a sense of Congress that the President should urge France and Russia and all other public and private creditors to relieve the debts owed to them by Iraq.

I will speak in more detail on the merits of the bill later this week. I urge my colleagues to support this worthy legislation.
